In Frah Quintale's Milan apartment, designed by Parasite 2.0, Artemide blends naturally into an intimate and measured domestic narrative, where every element expresses authenticity and expressive freedom. In this urban retreat, discreet yet strongly defined in character, light becomes an element that accompanies the space and shapes its atmosphere.

Through iconic forms and a timeless language, Artemide luminaires engage with the interior in a coherent and balanced way. Shogun, with its graphic and sculptural presence, brings a bold accent to the space, while Ilio 10 Special Edition, essential and sophisticated, introduces a softer, more contemporary note. Together, they create a luminous narrative in harmony with the home's design vision and with the musician's expressive universe.
