The new Headquarter is a "home" - cozy and technological - designed for those who want to alternate skiing with fun and work, meeting the needs of people of different ages and young generation that lives a continuous Phygital experience, between the physical and digital world. This structure, owned by the company Mottolino Fun Mountain, is the first private work linked to the 2026 Winter Olympics.

Mottolino Fun Mountain is a project that wants to celebrate the magnificence and the adventure offered by the mountains, enhancing its charm through dynamic and highly engaging environments.

Inside there will be the first Ski Working Hub in Europe, a real business lounge where you can work between one ski run and another or at the end of a funny day. The result is a space to be enjoyed with all the senses by a wide audience, in which visitors will be able to have fun and work surrounded by a landscape of extreme beauty.

The entire lighting of this structure has been handled by Artemide. Several fixtures were used, including a custom system made especially for this project that "travels" for several meters and illuminates the magnificent entrance.
