↗ The identity of the company and the identity of the city merge within the space making it recognizable and unique

The project of Huawei Italia new offices in Milan is born from the idea to create a connections between the company and the city of Milan: walking around the new offices we can find the technology, the innovation and the avantgarde that reflect the Huawei company and also the design, the symbols and the style that always represent the city of Milan.
The purpose of this project was not only to create spaces in wich the company and its values were well regognizable but also to make clear the localization of the new office: “Milan in Huawei new office”
