Artemide will be present at Light + Building 2024 with sustainable products born from continuous research, experimentation and technological innovation.
This ongoing focus on the future is supported by a tradition of values and knowledge, a history of design and business culture that translates into quality products through collaboration with leading international architectural firms.
In the exhibition booth, once again managed by Mario Cucinella's MCA studio, visitors will experience light capable of shaping itself in every living-working space, indoor and outdoor.
Through its Human & Responsible Light, Artemide allows us to rethink the environment in terms of energy ecosystem, perception of space, interaction and experience of human well-being for a better quality of life.
